

#notanurse_but

“I’m not a nurse
BUT every day
I provide high level medical care to my child.”

Is this you or someone you know?

What we do for our children behind closed doors is often unrecognised, mostly unseen and often misunderstood. #notanurse_but is a parent-led campaign shining a light on life for families like us, delivering high levels of care to children with serious illness and complex health needs at home and highlighting the large gaps in support available.

With the help of WellChild, the national charity for seriously ill children, we are building a bank of evidence to help influence decision makers.
